

Code of Discipline – for Philippine Employees

CODE OF DISCIPLINE

I. Purpose

Employees must uphold the highest ethics and act with integrity in all of our Company business actions. Furthermore, employee's performance and behavior are integral to the achievement of Company's business goals and objectives. As such, ethical behavior and compliance with the law are conditions of employment. Actions that violate the Code of Conduct, other company policies, and the law will result in appropriate disciplinary action, which can include employment termination.

As part of the disciplinary program of the company, the Code of Discipline is hereby created. This code must be given and explained to all employees at the start of their employment because they must first have knowledge of the rules before they can be held responsible.

II. Coverage

Any employee, regardless of role or level, can bring a specific concern to their supervisor, manager, Human Resources or any member of management.

An employee can file an incident report under the Code of Discipline regarding the behavior of another employee. Employees raising concerns, filing incident reports should do so only in good faith.

The Code complements and must be read in conjunction with employment contract and Company's other Human Resources policies, which include but is not limited to, Code of Conduct, Attendance Guidelines and Zero Tolerance Policy. All employees also have the responsibility to bring questionable matters to the attention of the company. Failure to report suspected violations of this Code may also result in disciplinary action.

III. Roles and Responsibility

The Company is a high-performance business and requires all employees to observe the Company's Code of Discipline and to conduct themselves at all times professionally in the performance of their role. Handling issues of misconduct, including the disciplining of employees, is the responsibility of leadership assisted by people supervisors and Human Resources, and includes the following responsibilities:

- Employees – behave in a manner consistent with Company's Core Values, understand process involved in reporting incidents that may breach the Code of Discipline, policies or procedures and implementing corrective actions to acts of misconduct.
 - Supervisors/Managers – coach and guide employees on proper behavior, investigate and take timely action on reports of misconduct, handle the processing of less serious cases involving their direct reports and exercise good judgment in handling cases.
- Human Resources – provide guidance to people supervisors in the evaluation of incidents, application of the appropriate corrective action/sanctions, timely and consistent processing, resolution and documentation of disciplinary cases.

Code of Discipline – for Philippine Employees

IV. Classification of Offenses

The classification of offenses is not intended to be exhaustive or to cover every situation or behavior that may warrant disciplinary action.

Any conduct which the Company, in its absolute discretion, interprets as a violation of its policies, guidelines or processes or is otherwise unprofessional or inappropriate may be dealt with in accordance with these Guidelines. The Company reserves the right to investigate, conduct a hearing and impose sanction as warranted by the facts of each case.

The severity of the offense including impact, or potential impact on the Company, its employees, clients and visitors contribute to the determination of the appropriate misconduct level of the case.

V. Sanctions

The company reserves the right to impose progressive sanctions for multiple offenses committed by an employee under these Guidelines regardless of whether the categories of such offense are the same (e.g. the first offense is Performance of Duties and the second is Health, Safety and Security.)

The CODE OF DISCIPLINE is grouped into the following classification of offenses:

1. CLASSIFICATION OF OFFENSES

Group I	PROVISIONS ON ATTENDANCE
Group II	PROVISIONS ON PERFORMANCE OF DUTIES
Group III	PROVISIONS ON QUALITY
Group IV	PROVISIONS ON CONDUCT
Group V	PROVISIONS ON TECHNOLOGY, SAFETY, SECURITY, HEALTH AND ORDER

2. PRESCRIPTIVE OR CLEARING PERIOD FOR EACH CORRECTIVE ACTION

The prescriptive or clearing period for each corrective action is as follows:

Verbal Warning (VW)	Three (3) months
Written Warning (WW)	Six (6) months
Final Written Warning (FWW)	Twelve (12) months
Termination (T)	none

If an offense of the same nature is committed before the prescriptive or clearing period is over, an escalation to the next level corrective action will occur.

The term “cleansing period” means the interval of time an earlier offense is taken into account for purposes of determining the sanction for the subsequent act of misconduct. All records of disciplinary matters remain in the employee’s 201 file.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Human Resources reserve the right to consider the past misconduct to apply the totality rule to acts which show a clear pattern of misconduct.

Code of Discipline – for Philippine Employees

VI. Principles of Discipline Guidelines

- Disclosure:
When dealing with employee disciplinary matters, information relevant to any disciplinary investigation or subsequent action will be disclosed only when required for the purposes of conducting an investigation, hearing, the implementation of a sanction, the Company's Human Resources.
- Preventive Suspension:
If an employee's continued presence poses an imminent threat or risk to life, property, operations, or company interests, including but not limited to cases involving suspected fraud, dishonesty, or financial misconduct, as defined by law, the Company reserves the right to place the employee under preventive suspension.

Preventive suspension is not a disciplinary sanction, but a necessary interim measure adopted to safeguard the Company, its employees, clients, and assets while an investigation is ongoing. Such suspension shall not be imposed without the prior approval of the Human Resources Department.

Period of Suspension. The preventive suspension without pay shall be for a maximum of thirty (30) calendar days. Should the suspension extend beyond this period, the additional days will be taken as paid leave. If the employee is not found to have committed the alleged offense, the employee will be paid the amount of salary which was not paid during the preventive suspension period.

- Liquidation of damages:
Employees whose employment is terminated will be subject to liquidated damage amounting to 30 days of their basic rate as stipulated on their signed job Contract.
- Company Prerogative:
The Company reserves the right to exercise management prerogative in the interpretation, application and enforcement of the provisions stated in Code of Discipline and attendant policies, procedures and practices.

V. Revisions

This Code of Discipline may be withdrawn, replaced or amended at any time by the Company.

Employees who expect themselves to be absent from work on a given day are EXPECTED to inform their immediate supervisor at least 2 hours before their stated shift. Not reporting to work and not calling to report the absence is treated as an instance of NO-CALL/NO-SHOW [NCNS]. Although the definition of NCNS leaves very little room for subjective interpretation, Management may consider extenuating circumstances and maintains the right to exercise discretion in such cases.

After three consecutive instances of NO-CALL/NO-SHOW [NCNS], the employee is considered AWOL and a Return-to-Work-Notice (RTWN) is sent to the employee's stated mailing address.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

These rules are not all inclusive. The Company reserves the right to impose sanctions or dismiss an employee for any other offense or serious infraction of rules not enumerated above. The applicable sanction for such an offense or serious infraction shall be determined by the Company based on the circumstances of each case and the applicable provisions of law.

Management reserves the right to impose a higher or lower penalty depending upon the aggravating or mitigating circumstances of each particular case, taking into consideration performance related issues which form part of the employees' record, and whether the employee is a repeat offender in so far as commission of past offenses are concerned. For those undergoing Training, management reserves the right to impose relatively higher penalties as stipulated in the attendance guidelines made known to the trainees at the start of training, which guidelines shall form part of, and shall be deemed integrated into, this Code.

At the sole discretion of the Company, an offense may be mitigated to a lower penalty by the outstanding performance record of the employee concerned and/or the circumstances of each case.

Imposition of any of the penalties herein prescribed shall be without prejudice to the right of the Company to institute the appropriate civil or criminal action that may be warranted by the circumstances.

In each particular case, substantial evidence that an infraction or violation of any of these rules has been committed is sufficient ground for the imposition of the corresponding penalty.

In cases involving damage to property, the offender, aside from incurring the applicable penalty, shall also be required to pay for the property damaged.

When a single act or omission constitutes two or more infractions or offenses, the higher penalty applicable shall be imposed. Any further violation or infraction of rule during the corresponding period of observation will be penalized one degree higher than that prescribed unless the new violation or infraction requires heavier penalty, in which case such penalty shall be imposed.

Accumulation of two (2) final written warnings and/or suspension within a 12-month period regardless of the nature of offense shall constitute a grave offense punishable with termination, subject to the discretion of the Department Head.

The provisions of the Company Code of Conduct are deemed part and parcel of this Code and any violation thereof shall be punishable under the offenses as classified herein. Management reserves the right to assign the appropriate classification or category as the case may be. At its own initiative, Management may add to, delete from, or revise any portion of this policy as it deems necessary. Such amendments or revisions may come in the form of Memoranda which will be posted in the Bulletin Boards immediately upon issuance. These Memos shall have the effect of superseding certain provisions of this Code which may be in conflict thereto.

It is the command responsibility of the immediate superior to discipline his/her subordinates or staff, to properly implement the rules and to be an example to them. The Appropriate Sanction will be revealed to the employee through a Corrective Action Form. As for all Terminations, the employee will be notified through a Notice of Decision.

Leads, Supervisors and Associate Managers and Managers can issue Coaching Logs up to Final Written Warnings. All Suspensions and Terminations require the observance of substantive and procedural due process and the approval of the Department Manager or Head of the Department, HR Director and/or Site Director.

Code of Discipline – for Philippine Employees

An employee will be given the chance to justify his actions through a written explanation before a corresponding sanction is made against him. For cases that would warrant Verbal Warning to Final Written Warning, employee shall be given 5 days from receipt of the notice of the charge to submit an explanation to his immediate superior and/or HRD. For offenses where the applicable penalty is Recommended for Termination of employment, the Company shall establish a committee to conduct admin hearing and deliberate on the case against the employee. An administrative hearing is a venue provided to the employee where he/she will be given the opportunity to present further evidence and explain his/her position to the allegations against him/her.

The management will release its disciplinary judgment not later than a week upon receipt of the employee's written explanation. In cases wherein deliberation has to be extended, the employee concerned will be properly notified.

The Company reserves the right to place an employee on forced leave or preventive suspension, whichever is applicable while his/her case is in the process of deliberation.

Management reserves the right to place an employee under preventive suspension if he or she poses an imminent threat to the life or property of his/her employer or co-employee. During the period of preventive suspension, Management shall give the employee the chance to explain his side through various means, including an Administrative Hearing which will be conducted for the purpose of determining whether or not he is guilty of the charges filed against him. The preventive suspension shall in no case exceed thirty (30) days, and if the employee is found to be innocent of the allegations against him or her, said employee shall be reinstated to his former position with full back wages and seniority rights.
