How to file • Eligibility • Required documents • Leave entitlement

Employee Orientation Deck | Philippines | 2026

Coverage: SSS • PhilHealth • Pag-IBIG • Statutory Leaves

What this guide covers

SSS

Sickness, Maternity, Disability, Retirement, Death and Funeral claims.

PhilHealth

Membership records, eligibility and benefit availment through accredited facilities.

Pag-IBIG

Membership services and benefit/loan transactions handled through Pag-IBIG channels.

Statutory Leaves

Maternity, Paternity, Solo Parent, VAWC, Special Leave for Women, and Service Incentive Leave.

Key principle

Submit the right form + supporting proof + timely notice. Company policy may require additional internal documents.

Standard filing workflow

Use this sequence for most employee benefit and leave requests.

SSS Sickness Benefit

For qualified members unable to work due to sickness or injury.

Eligibility

- At least 3 monthly contributions within the 12-month period before the semester of sickness
- Confined at home or hospital for at least 4 days
- Employer notified
- Employed members generally must have exhausted current-year company sick leave with pay

Required documents

- SSS Medical Certificate (Med 01688)
- Diagnosis and recommended number of days
- Clinic address/contact/license number
- Supporting lab/X-ray/ECG/clinical records when applicable

How to file

1. Employee submits medical proof to HR
2. HR files Sickness Notification online through My.SSS
3. Employer files reimbursement after approved notification/advance payment
4. Employee confirms receipt as required

Important limits & timing

Maximum SSS sickness benefit: 120 days in one calendar year; not more than 240 days for the same illness. For home confinement, employee notification to employer is generally within 5 calendar days from start of confinement. To immediately notify the immediate supervisor and HR on 1st day of confinement.

Maternity Leave & SSS Maternity Benefit

Leave entitlement

- 105 days paid — live childbirth, regardless of delivery mode
- +15 days paid — if qualified solo parent
- 60 days paid — miscarriage / emergency termination of pregnancy
- Optional +30 days without pay for live childbirth

SSS eligibility

Female SSS member with at least 3 monthly contributions in the 12 months immediately preceding the semester of childbirth, miscarriage or ETP, subject to the statutory rules.

Typical documents

- Company maternity leave application
- SSS maternity notification / employer records
- Medical certificate / ultrasound or prenatal records as applicable
- Birth certificate after delivery
- Supporting documents for miscarriage/ETP or solo-parent status when applicable

Filing tip

Notify HR as early as possible and provide the expected date of delivery. HR should validate SSS records and required employer/SSS documentation before payroll processing. To immediately notify the immediate supervisor and HR immediately upon knowing the result of PT and/or Ultrasound.

Paternity Leave

Who is eligible?

A married male employee in the private or public sector, for the first four deliveries of his legitimate spouse with whom he is cohabiting, subject to RA 8187 requirements.

Leave entitlement

7 calendar days with full pay per qualifying delivery.

The employee should notify the employer of the spouse's pregnancy and expected delivery date.

Typical documents

- Paternity leave application
- Proof of marriage (e.g., PSA marriage certificate) when required
- Proof of childbirth (PSA birth certificate / hospital record)
- Company-required supporting documents

Reminder

Paternity leave is separate from SSS maternity benefit. Proposed bills or later amendments should not be treated as current law unless enacted and effective.

Other statutory leave entitlements

Solo Parent Leave

7 working days per year for qualified solo parents, subject to statutory eligibility/documentation and applicable rules.

VAWC Leave

Up to 10 days paid leave for qualified victims under RA 9262; may be extended when necessary as specified in a protection order.

Special Leave for Women

Up to 2 months with full pay for qualified female employees following surgery caused by gynecological disorders, subject to statutory conditions.

Service Incentive Leave (SIL)

5 days with pay per year for employees who have rendered at least 1 year of service, subject to Labor Code exclusions and company rules on administration.

PhilHealth — How to avail benefits

PhilHealth generally operates through accredited health facilities and benefit packages rather than an employee leave-day claim.

Before treatment

- Confirm PhilHealth membership record/MDR
- Check that the facility/provider is accredited
- Ask the hospital/clinic about the applicable PhilHealth benefit package
- Bring valid ID and membership details

At the facility

- Present required identification/membership proof
- Complete facility forms
- Hospital/clinic processes the claim and applies the applicable benefit deduction
- Some packages have specific pre-authorization or documentary requirements

HR role

- Maintain accurate PhilHealth records
- Assist with member-data concerns
- Coordinate contribution/remittance issues
- Guide employees to the facility/PhilHealth process for the specific benefit

Important

There is no single universal “PhilHealth leave entitlement.” The number of leave days is governed by the applicable Labor Code/statutory leave or company policy; PhilHealth provides health insurance benefits.

Pag-IBIG — Membership & benefit/loan transactions

Common transactions

- Membership record / MID concerns
- Multi-Purpose Loan (MPL)
- Calamity Loan when available
- Provident / retirement-related claims and other member services

Typical documents

- Pag-IBIG MID / member information
- Valid government-issued ID
- Completed application/form or online transaction
- Proof/supporting documents specific to the benefit or claim

How to file

1. Use Virtual Pag-IBIG where the transaction is supported
2. Complete the online form
3. Upload/submit required documents
4. Monitor approval and disbursement status
5. Visit a Pag-IBIG branch if the transaction requires OTC processing

Leave-day note

Pag-IBIG does not create a general employee leave entitlement. If a Pag-IBIG transaction requires absence from work, use the applicable company leave or statutory leave process.

Other SSS benefits you should know

Disability

Cash benefit for permanent partial/total disability; qualification depends on contribution history and disability assessment.

Retirement

Monthly pension generally requires at least 120 monthly contributions; lump-sum rules apply when the contribution requirement is not met.

Death

Benefit for qualified beneficiaries; monthly pension generally requires at least 36 monthly contributions before the semester of death.

Funeral

Cash benefit for the person who defrayed funeral expenses; amount depends on the member's contribution history and current SSS rules.

Employee filing checklist

Notify your immediate supervisor and HR as soon as the event occurs or becomes known.

Complete the company leave/benefit request form accurately.

Check your SSS / PhilHealth / Pag-IBIG membership information before filing.

Attach complete supporting documents — medical records, civil registry documents, IDs, or other proof as applicable.

Observe statutory filing/notification deadlines; late filing may reduce, delay, or deny a claim.

Keep copies/screenshots of submitted forms and transaction/reference numbers.

Monitor the agency portal, email, SMS, or HR updates for approval, clarification, or payment.

Immediately report any change in leave dates, return-to-work date, or claim information.

Animal Bites:
When and
When Not to Go to the ER

SAY YES TO BETTER HEALTH

Why not the ER?

We recognize that moments like these can cause concern. But knowing where to go for the right care makes a difference:

ERs are reserved for life-threatening emergencies.

Animal bites require urgent outpatient care, not emergency intervention, if treated promptly.

This helps you avoid unnecessary delays, while ensuring sustainable healthcare for everyone.
